

The Bloomfield Record.

Essex County Teachers' Association.

The Autumnal meeting of the Essex County Teachers' Association will be held in the South Orange Academy, on Saturday, October 9th, 1875, commencing at 10 o'clock. The following is the

PROGRAMME:

1. Devotional exercises.
 2. Address of Welcome, with Remarks upon Teaching Spelling.—J. L. Talbot, Esq., South Orange.
 3. Reading in our Schools.—Prof. E. O. Harvey, Principal High School, Newark.
 4. Mental Economy in Mathematical Instruction.—Dr. F. A. Adams, East Orange.
- Recess at 1 o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION, TWO O'CLOCK.

1. Practical Illustrations of Teaching Drawing in School. Miss Mary A. Lathbury, New York.
2. Physical Science in the school room. Dr. C. C. Morgan, Montclair.
3. Teachers' Journal, read by the Editor, Mr. Merrill, Irvington.

Free discussions will be had upon all the topics presented. The exercises will be enriched with music during the day. The public and private school teachers of this and the neighboring counties, and the friends of education generally, are invited to attend.

Columbus Delano, Secretary of the Interior, has resigned. His resignation dates back in July but the President has not accepted it until now, showing his usual deference to the claims of the press, and insists at the last that the Secretary has "filled every public trust with ability and integrity." The Newark Courier expresses the belief that "the President has erred in giving a clean bill of health to an official whose record needs something more than an Executive indorsement to vindicate it."

EDUCATION IN ORANGE.—The Chronicle has an article on the Schools, stating that the Board of Education are at a disadvantage to carry on the work of education through lack of school room accommodation, and the want of adequate means. It is possible that the schools will have to be closed before the regular time is reached, as the funds cannot hold out. The duty is argued of seeking Legislative permission to issue bonds for the erection of a new school building in the First Ward, in order that the large number of children who are now forced out of the appropriate buildings, into ill-adapted and uncomfortable rooms, may share equally with other children of the same grade in scholarship and the advantage of properly adapted buildings.

MEETING OF PRESBYTERY.—The Presbytery of Newark meets in this place next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, being the regular semi-annual session. The services will continue through the day and evening.

State Items.

The Presbytery of Morris and Orange has adopted resolutions against Sunday trains. Senator John W. Taylor has sent in his resignation as Counsel for the Essex Road Board, assigning as a reason, that a pressure of private business prevented him from attending to the duties of the office.

The trains of the Sussex Railroad, from Newton, N. J., have been withdrawn from alleged failure to acknowledge the town bonds given to aid the company in building the road. Much bad feeling is the result.

George Wright, aged 15, was run over and instantly killed last Tuesday while attempting to jump from one car to another, on the Long Branch Railroad at Elizabethtown, while the train was making a fly switch.

The whole number of votes cast at the late Constitutional Convention according to the counting of the State Board of Canvassers was 96,532. All the twenty-eight amendments are ratified by an average majority of 40,000, except the twelfth, relating to taxes, which has 6,734 majority.

News of the Day.

The new fifty cent note will not be ready for issue until early in October. Mr. Edwin Booth has been obliged to cancel his professional engagements on account of his recent injuries.

The United Steamer Nina, at the torpedo station near Newport, R. I., during a mock battle with the schooner Joseph Henry, on Friday morning, crushed in the side of the latter, which soon sank. All on board were rescued.

A skeptical old gentleman at Bacon Falls, Ct., who heard for the first time the other day that the earth turned round every 24 hours, sat up all that night to see if the water ran out of his well, and now knows better.

Richmond papers publish an appeal for funds to provide the city with an equestrian statue of Gen. Robert E. Lee. It closes with these words: "Virginians, Englishmen have given us a statue of Jackson. Let Virginians themselves provide one for Lee."

In clearing away the refuse from the ancient silver mines in Laurium, in Greece, a large number of seeds were found, unknown to modern science, but described in the writings of Pliny. The seeds took root, budded and blossomed, bearing beautiful yellow flowers, after a burial of at least 1,500 years.

A private letter from Honolulu reports King Kalakaua quite ill. A shoal of red fish had appeared in the water near the city, which is always regarded as a precursor of the death of a royal personage. This sign has preceded the deaths of three predecessors, and the king is visibly affected by the superstition.

Mr. Alexander Werner returned to his native city, Pittsburgh, Pa., a few days since, after an absence of twenty years. He "ran away from home" when a boy, and settled in Australia. He wrote to his parents constantly at first, but they never received his letters, which consequently never were answered, and he soon ceased to write. His parents made many futile efforts to learn where he was, but they both died recently, and the lawyers in charge of their estate have now succeeded in finding the missing heir.

"GIVE US THIS DAY OUR DAILY BREAD."

BY FRANK CHAMBERLIN.

"Give us this day our daily bread." How often asked, how thoughtless said, But 'tis a general term, you know, As used by mortals here below.

"Give us our daily bread," we pray, All use it rightly, the same way, But 'tis a comprehensive prayer, Implying several kinds of ware.

One means a crust, a bit of meat, An Irish stew, a loaf of bread, Some cast-off clothing—but of clay, His sumum bonum day by day.

One means good, plain, substantial food, (Must once a day be understood) Milk for the children—space to roam—A rustic cottage, quiet home.

One means more than simple dish, For after soup he wants a beef rare, Has just commenced his sumptuous fare, For on the side-board soon appear Pies, puddings, puddings, coffee clear, Ice and cream, and in the train Come sparkling wine and choice champagne.

The man of fashion, nice and trim, Thinks of new suits, "kublooby" and trim, His wife, of course, must have her share, She goes for silks and diamonds rare.

The millionaire, with wealth untold, Clings to his bonds and stocks and gold, And prays for more—petition strains To take in profits, rents, and gains.

The politician, as of yore, Means office, plunder, and a score Of other things, he never forgets To call them honest perquisites.

Our prayer should be, our daily bread, In peace, contentment to be fed, If we have wealth—of goods a store, To be the Almoners to the poor.
